The Sacred Heart School Photography Project creates an opportunity for students to have a hands-on experience that builds environmental and basic photography skills.

This unique project will take students to the Arthur R. Marshall National Wildlife Refuge, with talented photographers and educators for a lively learning experience.

Students will use a digital camera to take pictures of the Wildlife Refuge and submit their work for judging by professional photographers. The program culminates with a professional gallery exhibition at the Wally Findlay Galleries in Palm Beach this January.

Thank you!
